 - a. Erica Laquer, Certified Childbirth Educator and Birth Doula, MotherWoman Group Leader gave a presentation about the Community Based Doula Initiative (CBDI)
 - b. CBDI is a non profit with a fiscal sponsorship from the Peace Development Fund in Amherst.
 - c. Doula is an intermediary and advocate for women during labor. She provides education, support and advocacy for the mother on pregnancy, labor, birth and feeding.
 - i. An important aspect of birth doulas is that they stay with the mother continuously throughout labor.
 - ii. Doulas can be birth doulas, postpartum doulas or full spectrum.
 - iii. A doula is educational, not medical.
 - d. CBDI grew out of a partnership with Project Baby Springfield
 - e. CBDI is different in that it is community based. It is not hospital based. Community based programs encourage partnerships of doulas to individuals in their own community, which can emphasize shared culture and values. In low income and underserved communities, the community based doulas become allies and "aunties down the street"; they get to know the client before labor begins.
 - f. Springfield needs doulas because of long-term racial and health inequities. The highest infant mortality rate is in Springfield.

i. African American babies die in the first year of life at 3 X the state rate of 4.4 per 1000 live births (12 per 1000 live births)

g. Benefits of doulas: Fewer cesareans, less pain relief medication, lower use of Pitocin, lower percentage of newborns being admitted to nursery for care, happier with birth experience, more likely to be nursing 6 weeks after birth, faster recovery, better bonding, less postpartum depression

h. Percent of parents who are going through pregnancy labor classes has decreased dramatically.

i. Access to doulas is generally limited to healthy, wealthier women in urban and suburban areas. Barriers exist for poor women, women of color, rural women, immigrant women, incarcerated women, recent refugees and immigrants.

i. CBDI wants to make doulas available to all women, especially those who face barriers.

j. CBDI is now focusing on fundraising (including Valley Gives in December) and securing other resources to make the program sustainable, including advocacy around making doula payments a fixed line in the city budget.

k. CBDI would like to get 12 people per training session (12 hours), and have 2 training sessions per year.

l. Green River Doula Network shows listing of current doulas in the area.

m. A drop in location away from the hospital would be a dream for CBDI
